POPULATION CONTROL DOES NOT REDUCE POVERTY

Corruption, lack of education, and lack of opportunity cause poverty. The poor are victims of poverty, not the cause of poverty. House Bill 96 (HRS), more commonly known as the "Reproductive Health Bill," blamed poverty on the presence of too many poor people.

It focuses on "the problem of a bloated population and high and uncontrolled fertility" and proposes "family planning and mitigation of our population growth rate" as "vital components of the development agenda."

H.R. 96 seeks to establish a government managed program of population management and demographic targets in the Philippines.

This policy is based on outdated economic assumptions. "Decades of study have shown there is no direct relationship between population growth rates and economic prosperity." In fact, population control policies have never been shown to mitigate poverty.

Reproductive health policy should focus on increasing maternal care by increasing skilled attendants and improved infrastructure that allows access to healthcare. Using the banner of "reproductive health" as a way to achieve demographic targets distracts from the real issues. Population control was not the key to prosperity for our Asian neighbors, but rather education and good, honest economic planning.

We are disappointed that H.R. 96 and all its supporters in the Philippines do not really support the bill.

Still stupid

THE PHILIPPINE PRESIDENTIAL COMMISSION ON GOOD GOVERNANCE (PCGG) has been set up to investigate the alleged misappropriation of public funds by the late President Ferdinand Marcos. The commission is headed by Justice Antonio Carpio and includes members from the judiciary, the executive branch, and the legislature.

CRIPPLED The commission's mandate is to identify and recover the assets of the Marcos family and to determine the extent of the financial damage to the state. It is expected to submit a report to the President within six months.

The PCGG's creation is a significant step towards accountability and transparency in government. However, its effectiveness will depend on the political will of the current administration to support its findings and recommendations.

The commission's work is crucial for restoring public trust in the government and ensuring that the Marcos family's alleged misdeeds are properly addressed. It is a testament to the Philippines' commitment to democratic principles and the rule of law.

Learning Board

THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS of the American Civil Liberties Union (ACLU) has announced that it will not support the release of the late Sen. J. William Fulbright, who died in 1995, from the National Archives and Records Administration (NARA) custody. The board's decision, which was announced last week, is a significant setback for those who have been pushing for the release of Fulbright's papers, which are currently held by NARA. The board's decision is based on the fact that Fulbright's papers contain a large number of documents that are classified as "Top Secret" and "Confidential" under the National Security Agency (NSA) rules. The board believes that the release of these documents could be harmful to the national security of the United States.

While the board's decision is a disappointment, it is not a final one. The board has indicated that it will continue to review the case and may change its decision at a later date. In the meantime, those who are interested in the release of Fulbright's papers should continue to contact the board and the NSA to express their support for the release of the documents. The release of Fulbright's papers is a matter of great importance to the American people, and it is our hope that the board will eventually reach a decision that allows for the full and open release of these documents.

How to put alerts to use

By [Name] [Address] [City] [State] [Zip]

Alerts are a great way to stay on top of your life. They can help you remember to take your medicine, pay your bills, and even remind you to call your doctor. Here are some tips on how to use alerts effectively:

1. Choose the right alerts. Not all alerts are created equal. Some are more useful than others. For example, a reminder to take your medicine is much more useful than a reminder to pay your bills.
2. Set up alerts early. Don't wait until the last minute to set up alerts. Set them up as soon as you can so you have time to get used to them.
3. Use alerts consistently. If you set up an alert, use it. Don't ignore it. If you ignore it, it won't be as useful.
4. Adjust alerts as needed. If an alert isn't working for you, adjust it. For example, if a reminder to take your medicine is too early, move it later.

Alerts can be a great tool to help you stay on top of your life. Use them wisely and you'll be on top of everything in no time.

A MESSAGE FROM FIRST PHILIPPINE INDUSTRIAL CORPORATION

Our Commitment To Public Safety and Welfare

First Philippine Industrial Corporation (FPIC) apologizes to the public for the inconvenience brought about by the leak discovered in our petroleum transport pipeline. We have committed the necessary resources to locate, in the quickest possible time, the leak which has been isolated within a 120-meter stretch of the pipeline along the southbound lane of the Ormeña Highway.

FPIC has been working closely with the City of Makati, with the invaluable help of JF-HIGS, to pinpoint the leak. But unfortunately its location directly under the Magallanes flyover ramp has made it more difficult to gain access.

We continue to work round-the-clock to determine the exact location of, and to eventually repair the leak.

WE ASSURE THE PUBLIC THAT

- All excavations and related activities are primarily being done with the utmost concern and care for the public's safety and welfare.
- We are working in close coordination with the various agencies concerned such as the Makati City, Department of Energy, Department of Public Works and Highways, Department of Environment and Natural Resources, Metro Manila Development Authority, Bureau of Fire Protection and Southern Police District.
- We have installed all the necessary safety and security precautions including barriers and signage to avoid any accidents in the site.
- We are ready to deploy internationally respected specialists in the assessment, and should the need arise, the collection, treatment and disposal of spilled petroleum.
- We are conducting regular gas emission tests and have installed air blowers at the site to mitigate the accumulation of fumes in the area.
- We have a standby recovery and containment truck stationed at the site.
- Fire-fighting equipment such as chemical foam, foam eductors, fire extinguishers are on standby throughout the site.
- We have fixed and roving security personnel deployed at the site 24/7 to enhance security and to ensure that only authorized personnel are allowed into the area.

We at FPIC would like to assure everyone that public health, safety and concern for the environment are paramount in everything we are doing to resolve this challenge.

The image shows a page from a handwritten manuscript. The text is written in a dense, dark Gothic script, arranged in two columns. The parchment is aged and slightly discolored. The handwriting is very close together, filling most of the page area. The text appears to be a continuous narrative or a list of items, with some lines starting with capital letters. The overall appearance is that of a historical document, possibly a chronicle or a record book.

Figure 1 consists of 12 panels, labeled (a) through (l), arranged in a 4x3 grid. Each panel shows the electron distribution function $f(v)$ as a function of velocity v in km/s. The x-axis for all panels ranges from -10 to 10 km/s. The y-axis represents $f(v)$ and its scale varies between panels. Panels (a) and (b) show the initial distribution at $t=0$. Panels (c) through (l) show the distribution at various later times, illustrating the development of a tail and the formation of a double-peaked structure. The panels are labeled with their respective times: (a) $t=0$, (b) $t=0.1$, (c) $t=0.2$, (d) $t=0.3$, (e) $t=0.4$, (f) $t=0.5$, (g) $t=0.6$, (h) $t=0.7$, (i) $t=0.8$, (j) $t=0.9$, (k) $t=1.0$, and (l) $t=1.1$.

Example 1. Let $\alpha = \frac{1}{2}$, $\beta = \frac{1}{3}$. Then $\gamma = \frac{1}{6}$. The function $f(x) = x^{\frac{1}{2}}$ is concave on $[0, \infty)$ and $f(0) = 0$. The function $g(x) = x^{\frac{1}{3}}$ is also concave on $[0, \infty)$ and $g(0) = 0$. Therefore, by Lemma 2.1, the function $h(x) = f(x) + g(x) = x^{\frac{1}{2}} + x^{\frac{1}{3}}$ is concave on $[0, \infty)$.

PH, neighbors in for bumpy ride, says IMF exec

By Mary Kay Vaughan

Philippines' economic growth is slowing, but it is still strong enough to keep the country on a growth path, says a senior IMF official. The Philippines is still a "strong performer" in the region, but it is facing a "bumpy ride" in the coming years, says the IMF's director for the Asia-Pacific region, David L. Foray.

Foray says the Philippines is still a "strong performer" in the region, but it is facing a "bumpy ride" in the coming years, says the IMF's director for the Asia-Pacific region, David L. Foray.

Different times, same trust

It's a different time for Metrobank, but the trust in the bank remains the same. Metrobank is a leading financial institution in the Philippines, and its reputation for trust and reliability is well-known. The bank has a long history of serving its customers and has a strong track record of financial stability.

But one thing remains for my son and I: Trust in our bank.

Service with a smile is not always enough

Engage clients, expert urges companies

By [Name]

What's the secret to success in a competitive market?

For many businesses, the answer lies in the quality of their customer service. While providing excellent service is a given, it's not always enough to stand out from the crowd. To truly engage clients and build lasting relationships, companies must go above and beyond the call of duty.

Experts suggest that businesses should focus on creating a personalized experience for each client. This means listening to their needs, understanding their pain points, and offering tailored solutions. It's not just about solving a problem; it's about making the client feel valued and understood.

Another key factor is consistency. Clients should always receive the same high level of service, regardless of who they interact with. This builds trust and loyalty, which are essential for long-term success.

Finally, businesses should invest in training for their staff. Well-trained employees are better equipped to handle difficult situations and provide exceptional service. This investment pays off in the form of satisfied customers and repeat business.

Let your business take its course

The business world is a constantly changing landscape. In the past, companies were able to rely on a steady stream of customers and a predictable market. But today, the business world is a much more volatile place. Companies must be able to adapt to change and to the needs of their customers. This is the only way to survive in the current business environment.

Why engage in workplace learning?

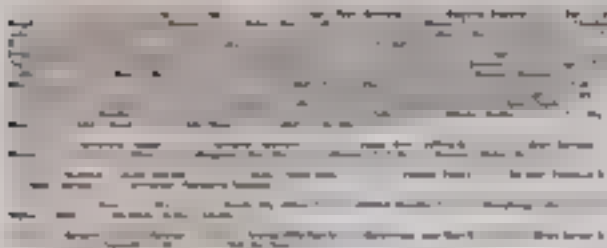

James Lee and the Business Week

Workplace learning is a key component of a company's success. It allows employees to develop new skills and knowledge, which can improve their performance and productivity. Workplace learning can also help to reduce turnover and increase employee loyalty. There are many ways to engage in workplace learning, including on-the-job training, formal training programs, and self-directed learning. Companies that invest in workplace learning are more likely to attract and retain top talent. Workplace learning is also a key factor in a company's ability to adapt to a rapidly changing business environment. By providing employees with the opportunity to learn and grow, companies can ensure that they are always up-to-date on the latest industry trends and technologies. Workplace learning is a win-win for both employees and employers. It allows employees to develop their skills and knowledge, while also helping to improve the company's overall performance and success.
